This Week in Music Class | Sept. 12, 2017
Introduction the Ukuleles, Recorders, & Mallet Percussion

INSPIRING MUSIC VIDEOS & PERFORMANCES, THIS WEEK IN MUSIC CLASS

Starting the week of September 12th, I will be announcing our third and final topic of the year, "Playing Music". Students will be introduced to the instruments they will be playing with their cluster. Red & Silver clusters will be playing beginner level mallet percussion instruments (xylophones, glockenspiels, and metallophones). Indigo & Orange clusters will [...]

I am constantly finding amazing music and videos to share with my classes at Open School. I love to inspire my young students with great music. And, almost every time I share, someone yells, "Play it again!". If only I had time!

Instead, I will be posting many of these recordings and videos to my web site along with some special extras. This way, students and parents can enjoy the music I share again and again at home. As many times as they wish!

Just go to <http://studiocline.com/this-week>

New posts will typically be added within a week or two of the lesson. However, my top priority is preparing the lesson material for each week. If there is a lot going on, it may take me longer. Not all videos in the class will be added due to copyright and other restrictions.
